 Working together for a healthier world™

2009 Call for Applications

Since 1982, Pfizer has sponsored MAP grants to support the next generation of leaders and experts in clinical medicine and public health.

These awards reflect our deep commitment, as well as what we believe is our responsibility, to improve health. The funding provided by the MAP grants allows individuals and institutions to pursue cutting-edge research and innovative education.

Pfizer Fellowships

Pfizer supports the career development of talented junior physician-scientists or researchers through our Fellowship programs. These nationally competitive awards provide up to $130,000, payable over 2 years, to support talented postdoctoral researchers in:

- Health Disparities
- Oncology

Pfizer Scholars Grants

Pfizer supports the career development of talented researchers through our Scholars Grants programs. Up to 2 grants of $130,000 each, payable over 2 years, are presented in each discipline. These nationally competitive awards augment specialty training and encourage the development of junior faculty scientists in:

- Health Policy
  - Academic-Pharmaceutical Relationships
  - Comparative Clinical Effectiveness
- Public Health

Pfizer Visiting Professorships

The Visiting Professorships program creates opportunities for selected institutions to invite a distinguished expert for 3 days of teaching and professional exchange with students, faculty, research fellows, physicians, nurses, community members, and others at the host institution. Pfizer awards up to 8 grants of $7500 each to host medical experts in the following therapeutic areas:

- Diabetes
- Health Literacy
- Infectious Diseases
- Neurology/Psychiatry
- Obesity
- Oncology
- Ophthalmology
- Pain Medicine
- Pulmonology
- Rheumatology
- Urology

Other Pfizer Partnerships

In collaboration with other organizations, Pfizer also provides financial support for the following research and practicum experiences:

The CDC Experience

The CDC Experience: Applied Epidemiology Fellowship at CDC is a Pfizer-funded grant that provides medical students with hands-on experience conducting public health and infectious disease research. Students spend up to 1 year at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), located in Atlanta, Georgia, performing epidemiologic research and analysis.

Applications and requirements can be found at:

NIH Clinical Research Training Program (CRTP)

Since 1998, Pfizer has partnered with the National Institutes of Health (NIH) to fund the CRTP for Medical and Dental Students. This 12-month program attracts creative, research-oriented medical and dental students who spend a year in an individualized program of mentored clinical or translational research at the NIH.

Applications and requirements can be found at:

www.cc.nih.gov/training/crtp/crtp.html

American College of Preventive Medicine/Pfizer Practicum Rotation in Health Policy and Preventive Medicine

Our support of this program in Washington, DC, gives residents an opportunity to take part in preventive medicine policy activities during a 3-month rotation. Award recipients also spend 1 day at Pfizer's Washington, DC, office, learning about pharmaceutical industry policy issues.

Applications and requirements can be found at:

Student National Medical Association (SNMA) David E. Satcher, MD Research Fellowship Program

SNMA David E. Satcher, MD Research Fellowships are awarded to select SNMA members after a rigorous application process. Fellowship awards start at $5000 to support research focusing on racial and ethnic health disparities, which includes, but is not limited to, research in obesity prevention and intervention. Research may be within the basic sciences, clinical sciences, or public health.

Applications and requirements can be found at:

American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP) Foundation/Pfizer Visiting Professorship Program in Family Medicine

In partnership with the AAFP, Pfizer offers the opportunity to apply for 3 days of expert teaching and interaction during the 2009-2010 academic year. Six institutions will receive $7500 each to invite a prominent physician-scientist of their choosing. The guest faculty member may give lectures, as well as participate in rounds, seminars, and conferences.

Applications and requirements can be found at:

American Medical Association (AMA) Foundation Minority Scholars Award

In collaboration with the Minority Affairs Consortium and support from Pfizer, the AMA Foundation offers 10 Minority Scholars Awards of $10,000 each year. Applicants must be current first- or second-year medical students and citizens or permanent residents of the United States. Eligible backgrounds include African American/Black, American Indian, Native Hawaiian, Alaska Native, and Hispanic/Latino.
